Contact Information

We will be using Discord for all communications, and Taimoor is the mentor lead. If you have any questions or require assistance on the day of the event, please use the mentor channel or contact one of our leads below.

Name	Discord ID
Taimoor Aleem	taimooraleem
Imran Yafith	pixelfox01
Aleks Bursac	meowdem.

If you need support at the event, you can find an organizer by looking for red namecards and lanyards.

General

- Frequently check the Discord channel for support-tickets
    - Hackers will make tickets to request mentors, and you can either find them in person or help virtually
- Do not overly assist hackers in design or code
    - Mentors should mainly be fixing bugs, giving pointers, or sharing resources
    - Do not contribute to the projects directly as an extra team member
- Reference the Devpost for the judging criteria if you want to give advice there

In Person

- Get your namecard and lanyard from the registration desk on the 2nd floor
    - You must wear your namecard at all times
- Please make yourself visible in hacking spaces, especially in the C-Wing 5th Floor
- Approach hackers and ask how their projects are going and if they need a mentor
    - Hackers are often shy and rarely approach mentors, but they like discussing their ideas and progress when approached!
    - Try not to bother hackers unnecessarily if they do not require mentorship

Virtual

- Be alert on the Discord server to answer tickets
- Feel free to chat with hackers on the server or in direct messages or via calls

Mentor Shifts

When starting and ending shifts, let everyone know in the mentor channel in the Discord. Please try to arrive 5-10 minutes earlier to prevent gaps in support.
